Nerviously the four brave children were tiptoeing towards the terrifying room 13. Everyone was terrified to do this. First in line was Fliss she had long brown hair and chocolate brown eyes. She was the most serious of them all. Second was Sarah she had long glossy jet black hair with purple and green tips and sky blue eyes. She was the bravest with a lion heart. Third was Dan he had short brown hair with brown hazel eyes. Jack has Golden Sun like hair with brown eyes.

Suddenly she shouted to Jack "You will go first into the room." He stammered "But.... But.... I'm afraid?"

"Rubbish" came a vicious reply. "Shine that torch at that coffin Sarah"

"Ok" replied Sarah.

"Dan you can hold the crucifix when the vampire wakes-up" Shouted Fliss. "I will wack the heavy rock and bang the pointed object 3 times." "Jack you will strike that steak on the vampire's coldblooded heart." Snapped Fliss.

Hearts were pounding like a racing car going 100 miles per hour. The bunch entered room 13. It took a second or two for their eyes to adjust to the life threatening hell hole. The demons bed lay in front of them looking as high as a security fence. The demon lay in his blood spitting coffin. The vampire lay in his nest of death.

In an instant Sarah ~~lifted~~ lifted the torch and pointed to the number 13. She pointed the torch into the dark hell hole. They tiptoed in cautiously, they saw the coffin the door was open. They got closer and closer. Jack placed the pointed object on the beasts devilish beastly heart. But in an instant the bleasty monsters eyes flung open. They were red and vannie. Fliss wacked the pointed object 3 times. Then Dan held the crucifix up-high. There was a ~~haunting~~ haunting screech. Shoked. In relief. A Slayed vampire.
